

Keeping net neutrality with ISPs protected under Title II is the only way for people to have equal access to everything in the internet and to keep businesses from monopolizing it.